The Wamen of the War

It is eminently right and just that the vons : of the war should be provided for -that the widows and wives and mothers of soldiers, the nurses who inany remedies, recommended to me by friends, but they all faced danger in the field hospitals, cared for the wounded and soothed the dying, should have a haven of comfort in their declining years. The law exacted at the last sossion of the legislature, therefore, providing for the selection of a site for mouthe. A Little Tartur

Just immediately after the last Rusco Purkish war, I happened to have some business to transact with a well knows maker of surgical appliances, and while a friend and I was talking to one of the members of the firm, we noticed a number of wooden legs being packed for consignment to Constantinople. "Rather an eloquent protest against the war," said the member of the firm, pointing to the cases. "Yes," replied my friend, "they are stump speeches." - Illustrated London News.
